A warm summer beach

By JackFreer | Posted January 23, 2014 | Incline Village, Nevada

CNN PRODUCER NOTE Jack Freer paddled his kayak more than a mile to reach Tunnel Creek Beach on Crystal Bay in Lake Tahoe. "I was the only one on the beach and there were very few boats out on the lake, so I decided to take the photo," he said. Freer described his journey as "a lazy kayak trip along the shore of the lake." "The highlight of the trip was the trip itself, and arriving at the beach and having it all to myself," he said.

With a little planning and exploring, it can be easy to find a warm summer beach to yourself on Lake Tahoe. Like this one on Crystal Bay.
