VEGAS WISE GUYS HEATING UP FOR STRETCH RUN NFC EAST INSIGHT..

As we delve deeper into December, the race for the top spot is starting to look a 100-meters race with so many competitors. Among those making an inspired run is Billy Coleman on a 6-0 vapor trail, rising swiftly up the leader board. Consistency counts when betting and here are Vegas Wise Guys pounding out Top Play winners, Jeff Saad is 8-0, Brew City 7-0, Fairway Jay 6-0, Peter Loshak 5-0 and Scott Landeau is 4-0. To win or be in the money for this contest, you have pick up points where you can and here are hottest 1* Wise Guys. James Patrick is 6-0; Billy The Kid and The Weis Guy are on 5-0 moves, while FAO Sports has not lost in a month (4-0).

N.Y. Giants (7-5 SU and 5-6-1 ATS) – New York had more than enough offense to beat Washington, but the Giants kept committing penalties which stalled drives, limiting their chances for more points. Tom Coughlin's defense struggled with Washington varied looks and allowed too many big plays. This week, Coughlin's crew will face a more traditional offense; however, the New Orleans schemes have caused matchup problems, as New York has surrendered 42.3 PPG in their previous three meetings. This would place more of the burden on Eli Manning and the offense to take advantage of the Saints defense, which can still be scored upon. The G-Men are 1-6 ATS vs. losing teams

Washington (6-6 SU and 8-4 ATS) – Going into the bye week at 3-6, coach Mike Shanahan was talking about giving younger players a longer look to start making determinations about 2013. During the time off, something must have clicked, as the Redskins have won and covered three straight and are one game out of first place in the NFC East, with the best record (3-1) in the division. Credit Shanahan for going non-traditional to utilize the unique talents of RG3 and the front office for discovering fellow rookie RB Alfred Morris, a sixth-round pick. The defense has average ability with DC Jim Haslet junking it up to create enough negative plays. The Skins have a rugged battle next with neighboring Baltimore which is as intriguing as the Giants contest.

Dallas (6-6 SU and 4-8 ATS) – Somehow, the Cowboys remain in the playoff contention in spite of less than full tilt performances, like the one they gave against floundering Philadelphia. Heading north to Cincinnati will require a full 60 minutes of effort since the Bengals are on a 4-0 SU and spread stretch. Dallas has managed to emerge victorious in three of their last four with the defense conceding 28.5 points a game, showing real regression. For Dallas to win on the AFC road, Tony Romo has to play be smart against the Bengals

In its 28th year of competition, the Wise Guys Contest delivers two selections from over 60 professional handicappers each week throughout the football season. An 18-week event with $10,000 in prize money at stake – this is where the smart money plays are each and every week!

VEGAS WISE GUYS CONTEST TOP 5 PERFORMANCE STUDY

This off-season MJR conducted a study researching the weekly Wise Guys reports published since 2004. Through meticulous analysis, a phenomenal discovery was unveiled: the selections from the various Top 5 contestants yielded the profits visible in the chart to the right.

As the contest progresses, the Top 5 will fluctuate with various contestants and – much like a horse race – the final segment or ‘stretch run’ allows you to saddle up with the Wise Guys’ top place finishers!

The Top 5 Recap....

The Top 5 race tightened this past weekend as four contestants earned points with three of them cashing their 2-star top plays. Once again Hurricane Bill paces the field with 29pts while four of the Top 5 contestants return for Week 14.

Former Wise Guys Champion, Richard Witt rejoins the Top 5, vaulting into fourth place off a 2-0 effort last weekend. In a two way tie for 2nd place with 28-pts, Mr. East and Stormin Norman are a 6-0 2-star best bet win streak and remain hot on the heels of the current leader Hurricane Bill.

Off a 2-0 ticket and a winner in 7 of his last 10 weeks, JH Sportsline finds himself tied with Ross Benjamin & Nelly's Sports with 25-pts. 10 more contestants trail the leading field with at least 23-pts.

Week 14 brings deja vu as once again the 2's are fighting the 1's and a pair of contestants align on a solo target. The collision games include the Redskins-Ravens & Texans-Patriots on MNF. The Vikings are the double-designee play for Week 14.

Overall the Top 5 produced a positive effort in Week 13 as the higher rated games prevailed. The four isolated games from last week resulted in a minor loss of 0.3 units. Caveat emptor is the theme once again this week as the chart on page 2 suggests a favorable outcome. Spanning the past seven years of the contest, results show six winning weeks with a solo setback in '09 during the Week 14 play. May the ball bounce your way...

REPORT #14

aggressive front four and the return of DeMarco Murray can make a substantial difference.

Philadelphia (3-9 SU and 2-9-1 ATS) – In what seems to be a weekly ritual, Philadelphia fired another defensive coach and head man Andy Reid might be next. Eagles' players are performing like they have engaged in a mutiny against Reid, especially the defense, which has not forced a turnover in five of their previous six contests, while giving up 32.5 points per contest. On Monday, coach Reid announced Nick Foles will be the starting quarterback the remainder of this lost season. Running back Bryce Brown has shown well in replacing LeShon McCoy, unfortunately, he's fumbled at inopportune times, which is what losing teams do. Philly is catching fewer points than what the oddsmakers released, however, that is more a reflection of Tampa Bay's home record than the Eagles play.
